Inspire's mission is to drive forward a brighter energy future by simplifying consumer adoption of clean energy and smart home technologies. Disrupting the one-size-fits-all utility model, Inspire's groundbreaking smart home subscription seamlessly combines personalized clean energy plans with best-in-class smart devices. Using the Inspire app, members can self drive their smart homes from anywhere, and select automated settings to use less energy while earning rewards. Inspire strives to make every home a smart home, powered by clean energy. Through continual innovation and scaling of connected device interoperability; clean energy supply, generation and storage; and intelligent, decentralized grid services, Inspire is building the world's first fully-integrated clean energy company.

Inspire is leading the Conscious Home™ movement. Inspire leverages cloud-based technologies and big data analytics to revolutionize a century old industry through whole-home solutions. Powered by a tribe of mission-driven HomeHeroes™, we help consumers make choices about the way they live that are good for the environment, increase their home value, and make sense for their wallet. Inspire's inaugural product offering, a frictionless clean energy subscription, enables consumers to make their homes run on 100% wind power in less than five minutes.

As the leader of the operations team, my job is to manage the systems and services used to create an industry leading member experience. More specifically, I'm responsible for managing the interactions between Inspire, utilities, partners and vendors. These relationships come together, under the careful watch of the operations team, to create a service unmatched in our industry. At the end of the day, we keep the trains on time! I'm passionate about renewable energy and working towards a better future.
